

Eunga Street Park in Tweed Heads South is now welcoming and accessible, thanks to a recent makeover.

Community input helps double the fun

Wow, look at us now! Eunga Street Park in Tweed Heads South and Cudgen Foreshore Park at Kingscliff have had a makeover and are open to the public.

Council has partnered with the local community to create recreational spaces that are more welcoming and accessible to all local residents.

The park improvements include new play equipment, landscaping, seating, additional tree planting for natural shade and new pathways to improve connectivity through the parks.

Manager Recreation Services, Stewart Brawley, said the features of the new parks were the direct result of community input.

"The local community shared their ideas on what features they would like to see in the park as part of a resident survey and a Council-run family fun day late last year," Mr Brawley said.

"Our aim was to deliver high quality neighbourhood parks that better reflect community needs and increase people's enjoyment of their area."

Visit the parks to see these new features:

- interactive play equipment for 2-12 year olds with a unique nautical or natural theme
- seating areas
- scooter track and pathways
- natural play features and green open space
- curved pathways and integrated landscaping
- existing mature trees have been protected and additional tree planting in the parks will provide much needed shade.

These park upgrades have been made possible by a $150,000 grant from the Department of Family and Community Services to revitalise park and play spaces which are adjacent to social housing.

Council has now completed three park upgrades including Eunga Street Park, Tweed Heads South; Cudgen Foreshore Park, Kingscliff; and Arbor Place Park at Bray Park, Murwillumbah.

Peek into artist studios

To celebrate the upcoming exhibition A Shared Obsession: Margaret Olley and Fred Jessup, Friends of the Tweed Regional Gallery will be hosting a bus tour to visit a selection of artist studios in the region.

The tour will allow attendees to gain unique insights into the creative practice of artists Emma Walker, Robyn Sweaney (pictured left), Michael Cusack and James Guppy.

The tour takes place on Tuesday 2 July beginning at 10am and running through until 4.30pm. There will be a bus pick up and drop off at Tweed Regional Gallery & Margaret Olley Art Centre in Murwillumbah. Tickets for the tour cost $35.

Places are limited, so bookings are essential via this link www.trybooking.com/BCCHZ

Waste tip ③

Sort your waste

The night before red bin collection day, empty out food from your fridge that has gone off. Scrape food scraps into newspaper, compostable liners or cereal boxes and place in your green bin. Remember, no plastic containers or plastic bags as it pollutes the compost.

We have some good news from local parks this week (see story, left) and now here's some not-so-good park news. The piece of park equipment pictured (above) was stolen recently from Ray Pascoe Park on Kennedy Drive, Tweed Heads. It will cost ratepayers $4000 to replace. The matter has been reported to police and any information from members of the public would be appreciated.
