

Tweed Shire Council wishes to recognise the generations of the local Aboriginal people of the Bundjalung Nation who have lived in and derived their physical and spiritual needs from the forests, rivers, lakes and streams of this beautiful valley over many thousands of years as the traditional owners and custodians of these lands.

Learn about the early days of fishing in the Tweed and other fascinating local stories through a virtual tour of Boyds' Shed.

Virtual tour of Boyds' Shed and Tweed Heads Courthouse

The latest Tweed Regional Museum virtual tour is now available online.

Tweed Regional Museum reopened its Murwillumbah branch to the public on Tuesday (30 June), with restrictions in place.

However, the Tweed Heads branch will remain closed until 15 September 2020.

In the meantime, visitors can enjoy a virtual tour of both Boyds' Shed and the original Tweed Heads Courthouse. Visitors can navigate their way through the buildings and get a taste of what's on offer.

The virtual tours give users a taste of the rich displays available for the community to enjoy through a sequence of still images, text and narration.

The museum tours are part of Tweed Shire Council's Together Tweed campaign designed to keep the community connected to discovering local history during the COVID-19 shutdown.

To book your free in-person visit to the Tweed Regional Museum Murwillumbah or to preview one of the museum's virtual tours, visit museum.tweed.nsw.gov.au or call 02 6670 2493.

It's Plastic Free July – pick a challenge and join in

Ready to take the Plastic Free July Challenge? Sign up at www.plasticfreejuly.org/take-the-challenge

Decide a challenge that works for you, start in the smallest way even if it is just for one day. Here's some ideas:

Have a contactless coffee

Get out your favourite reusable coffee cup again. Ask your local coffee shop if they will go contactless. More cafes are offering a safer way:

- coffee is poured into an in-house container
- place your cup on counter
- shot is poured into your reusable without touching it
- steam milk is poured on top
- place on your own lid. If not, ask to go topless (no disposable lid).

For more information go to responsiblecafes.org

Learn to make beeswax wraps

Learn how to make your own beeswax wrap with an on-line live tutorial. You also hear how to use and care for your wrap.

A free DIY beeswax making kit will go to the first 20 participants registered (one per household). This free online workshop is hosted by North East Waste on behalf of Tweed Shire Council, as part of the Love Food Hate Waste program. Find out more by signing up to our Food Smart program at www.newaste.org.au/foodsmart

Free your local area from plastics

Have you noticed more plastic litter around your favourite spots? As restrictions begin to ease, it's time well spent outside doing an individual or mini group clean-up at your local spot. This can be anytime or as a registered event through Clean Up Australia at www.cleanup.org.au

Leave at least two weeks between registering and your event date, in order for your clean up kit to be delivered. Stay safe, use gloves and keep to required gathering numbers.

Complete dumping survey and win

The call out to the Tweed community to help get rid of illegal dumping is paying off.

This year, 53 online reports of illegal dumping have been received by Council, compared to only three in the same period last year.

Residents concerned about the impacts of dumping – particularly in bushland and reserves across the Tweed – have been taking the opportunity to report dumping incidents online using their mobile phone and other devices.

Reporting illegal dumping increases the chances of dumpers being interviewed and fines being issued by Tweed Shire Council. It also helps Council to investigate and clean up dump sites more quickly minimising the risk of harm to people and the environment, while discouraging further dumping at illegal dumping hot spots.

North East Waste is giving the Tweed community the chance to win one of four $50 gift vouchers for completing an Illegal Dumping Survey which can be accessed at www.surveymonkey.com/r/TNJ2Y7P

Towards zero waste

Did you know that bollards used throughout Tweed Shire Council's parks and gardens are made from recycled plastic? And that's not all ...

- Recycled glass sand has been used (made from your recycled glass bottles) to upgrade stormwater drainage.
- Recycled plastic has been used for boardwalks and park benches.
- During 2019 Council reused about 90 per cent of the soil and road building material it excavated. For example, using excavated asphalt pavement for stabilisation work on Tweed's roads.

This is all part of the work towards a zero waste Tweed.

The 'Towards Zero Waste' concept means designing and managing products to reduce the volume of waste and materials generated, to conserve and recover as much materials as possible, and to only send waste to landfill as a last resort.

Council has developed a draft Towards Zero Waste Policy to guide the organisation on future strategies, actions and targets towards zero waste practices. Council would like as much input from the community as possible about this aspirational goal.

The draft Towards Zero Waste Policy is on public exhibition until Tuesday 21 July 2020. To find out more, read the draft policy and frequently asked questions and to have your say, visit www.yoursaytweed.com.au/zerowaste

In brief ...

July tests are a blast

Tweed Shire Council is planning to undertake three trial blasts at its South Murwillumbah quarry, on Quarry Road, on Wednesday 15 July between 9am and 3pm.

The low-intensity blasts will be set by a qualified, licensed contractor. Nearby residents and businesses are unlikely to detect any shaking but may hear the separate blasts spaced throughout the day.

Fine weather is required to undertake the blasts.

The test blasts are designed to provide information about rock type and rock strata so Council can build its future production blast program to maximise rock output with minimal blast impact.

The Environmental Protection Authority and Council's Planning Department have set the parameters for the blasts.

NAIDOC Week celebrations postponed

National NAIDOC Week 2020 celebrations in the Tweed have been postponed and will be held from 8 to 15 November 2020.

The postponement is aimed at protecting elders and those in the community with chronic health issues from the impacts of COVID-19.
