

Representatives from local community groups at one of the briefing sessions held at Murwillumbah in August to discuss future growth in the Tweed.

Community feedback helps guide sustainable growth

The community has responded to calls to work together with Council to plan ahead so that the Tweed grows and evolves in a sustainable way.

Residents, representatives from local resident and ratepayer groups, community groups and local urban planning consultants attended interactive community briefing sessions recently to share their views on how they would like to see the Tweed grow and what should be considered when planning for the future of housing and employment land in the Shire.

The early-stage consultation forms the first phase of the development of a Growth Management and Housing Strategy which will aim to guide growth in a way that maintains the Tweed's desirable lifestyle, strong community, unique character and environment and continues to offer opportunities for residents to thrive.

Over 900 visits were made to Council's online engagement website, Your Say Tweed during this early-stage consultation in August and September and almost 300 people of all ages, from many parts of the Tweed completed the online survey. Interestingly, 40% of survey respondents indicated they have lived in the Tweed more than 20 years, 39% between 10-20 years and the remainder moved to the Tweed in the last 10 years.

Sample of the community's feedback:

- The natural environment, access to the coastline and rural landscapes are part of what makes the Tweed a great place to live.
- Local people value our open, green space and scenic views, our lifestyle and the convenience of living close to services and facilities.

- People want to see bushland, tree-lined streets and the Tweed's heritage, character and identity preserved. They also want to see improved transport infrastructure and service (roads, public transport, walkways and cycleways). Housing affordability is also highly valued.
- The majority indicated that they think population growth should be accommodated either as redevelopment within existing residential areas of the Tweed or a combination of existing and outside existing residential areas. Many accepted that this might mean that medium to higher density dwellings such as residential flat buildings and townhouses or smaller-sized suburban blocks with detached or semi-detached houses and smaller yard space may be needed to accommodate this growth.
- The vast majority of people felt that it was very important for the Tweed to have bushland/rural/urban breaks to separate our built-up urban areas and our rural towns.

The community's feedback and contributions will help inform the development of an issues paper alongside input from the Project Reference Group, other stakeholder engagement and research. The draft issues paper will be placed on public exhibition for further comment before being finalised.

Residents strongly encouraged to attend bushfire risk workshops

Learn how to manage your own bushfire risks at a Know Your Risk workshop on Thursday 20 October.

Not knowing your bushfire risk or having a bushfire survival plan ready, places you and your family in danger from the threat of bushfires when they happen.

Council is inviting residents in bushfire prone areas of the Tweed to attend a Know Your Risk community workshop on Thursday 20 October at the Murwillumbah Civic Centre and Auditorium.

The workshops are part of a wider council Bushfire Resilience Project, working with the community to prepare for, mitigate and build resilience to bushfires.

The workshops are on Thursday 20 October at the Murwillumbah Civic Centre and Auditorium at 2 to 4 pm or 5:30 to 7:30 pm.

Visit bushfire-risk-workshops.eventbrite.com.au for more information and to book your spot or call Council on 02 6670 2400.

Visit tweed.nsw.gov.au/bushfire-map to check if you live in a bushfire prone area.

Nominations open and funding for events for Australia Day

Nominations are now open for the 2023 Tweed Shire Australia Day Awards.

It's your chance to recognise an individual or organisation doing great things in our community.

The awards are held each year on Australia Day (26 January) and provide an opportunity to acknowledge and celebrate those who help build a vibrant community and make the Tweed a great place to live and visit.

You can nominate in the following categories:

- Arts and culture
- Citizen of the year
- Community event of the year
- Volunteer of the year (individual and group)
- Young achiever in community service
- Sporting achievement (individual and group)

Nominations close on Friday 14 October so don't delay. The online form is available at tweed.nsw.gov.au/australia-day

Apply now for event funding

Council is offering financial assistance to community groups to hold small events on Australia Day 2023 to help the Tweed's people and places to thrive.

After a challenging year – first with the COVID-19 pandemic and then the flood – we are looking forward to seeing the community reconnect.

If your community-based organisation is planning an Australia Day event for the public to enjoy, you may be able to apply for funding support from Council.

To be eligible, the event must take place on Thursday 26 January 2023 and be open to the public.

To apply for the event funding, please complete the application form on Council's Australia Day webpage and return your application to Council by 5 pm Friday 14 October 2022.

Last week we each used

Waste tip

Green organics bin

All food scraps including meat and seafood go in the green organics bin mixed with your garden waste and dirty kitchen paper.

Organics can go in loose, wrapped in paper or in a 100% compostable bag – look for the seedling logo. Try freezing meat scraps in a lunchbox or wrapped in paper towel and empty them into the green bin the night before collection.

Tweed farmers' field day

A field day for local Tweed graziers this month aims to provide guidance to farmers about managing pastures in a changing climate.

The free event will be held on Thursday 20 October from 8:30 am to 3 pm at a cattle farm in Crystal Creek (address provided on registration).

Special guest Dr Judi Earl will discuss the importance of planned grazing for improving productivity and sustainability in a changing climate, a pasture assessment tool demonstration and using pasture assessment data to develop a feed budget.

Agricultural economist and pasture cropping specialist Mike Gout will share costs and benefits of multispecies pastures.

The field day will be an opportunity for Tweed farmers to network with other graziers and is part of Council's commitment to working with the local community to reduce our impact on the natural environment for a sustainable future.

Council is delivering this field day with support from the Australian Government's Future Drought Fund.

To register, visit tweed.nsw.gov.au/agriculture-farming. Morning tea and lunch provided.

Find and fix your water leaks

A Murwillumbah resident noticed a soggy patch of lawn in her front yard and immediately contacted a licensed plumber to investigate.

Her fast actions saved her from the shock of an expensive water bill. "One of our underground water pipes was leaking," the resident said. "The plumber says we were losing about 1500 litres of water a day."

"I can only imagine how high our next water bill would have been if we didn't keep an eye out for leaks like this."

While it's easy to spot a dripping tap, leaky toilets are harder to see and sometimes, leaky pipes are undetectable.

Council is encouraging all residents to spot a sneaky leak by checking their water meters every few months.

Before going to bed, turn off all taps, including any garden irrigation, dishwashers and washing machines. Then head outside and check the water meter. Note the numbers on the display.

Don't use any water overnight. In the morning, check the water meter again and compare the reading. If it's higher, there might be a leak.

If the morning reading is more than 100 litres than the evening reading, there is probably a major leak that needs fixing as soon as possible. Contact a licensed plumber urgently and turn off the tap at the water meter.

Help reduce your impact on the Tweed's natural environment by finding and fixing your water leaks. To find out more, visit tweed.nsw.gov.au/water-meters-leaks

The fast actions of a Murwillumbah resident helped save the Tweed's precious water and the resident her own money.

Winners of inaugural Wollumbin Art Award on show

Byron Shire-based artist Amber Wallis has been awarded the top prize in the inaugural Wollumbin Art Award (WAA) with a richly complex painting of her daughter entitled Ivy With Eyes.

The guest judge for the biennial non-acquisitive $30,000 prize was curator and editor of VAULT magazine, Alison Kubler, who announced the winners at the Tweed Regional Gallery on Saturday night.

Alison awarded the WAA Bundjalung Award to Tweed-based Bundjalung artist Michael Philp for his painting Pearly Shells. A work in Michael's signature style, this painting honours the artist's mother, aunty and grandmother.

Byron Shire-based artist Mia Forrest received the Emerging Artist Award for her video Red Flowering Gum, in motion, a mesmerizing work that plays with the tradition of still life.

Also announced on the night were the winners of the Gallery's Wollumbin Youth Art Award (WYAA), with guest judge artist Tamsin Ainslie selecting artworks by young artists Clara Polson (5–8 years);

Kya Lansom (9–12 years); Ava Berry Voce (13–15 years); and Elsie Biles (16–18 years).

The WAA finalist exhibition is on view at Tweed Regional Gallery & Margaret Olley Art Centre until Sunday 20 November, with the WYAA closing one week later, on Sunday 27 November. The exhibitions are free to the public and visitors can join some of the WAA finalists for an exhibition walkthrough on Sunday 9 October and Sunday 30 October from 2 pm.

Plan your visit and be part of a vibrant community which is a great place to live and visit.

The WAA Bundjalung Award is sponsored by Tweed Regional Gallery Foundation Ltd. The WAA Emerging Artist Award is supported by Leanne and Greg Tong-Lyon. The Wollumbin Youth Art Award is sponsored by the Friends of the Tweed Regional Gallery & Margaret Olley Art Centre Inc.

Your flood recovery update – 5 October 2022

Service NSW at Coolamon Centre

Service NSW has moved from the Canvas and Kettle room at the Murwillumbah Civic Centre to the Coolamon Centre on 3–5 Tumbulgum Road, Murwillumbah.

It will operate a recovery hub every Tuesday from 9 am to 4 pm offering flood recovery support and assistance in lodging grant applications or following up on applications.

For further information please contact Service NSW on 13 77 88.

Chinderah Donation Hub

The Chinderah Donation Hub is moving from the Cudgen Rugby Leagues Club in Wommin Bay Road, Chinderah, to a new location in Chinderah.

The hub will be moving to 23/18 Ozone Street, Chinderah and will open doors at the new site on Monday 10 October 2022.

Operating hours will be Monday – Friday, 9 am to 4 pm and Service NSW will be onsite from 9 am to 3:30 pm on Thursdays.

There will be services offered by Murwillumbah Community Centre (counselling/financial counselling, etc.) offered but the days and times are yet to be confirmed.

The Hub will accept donations delivered up until 2 pm.

Due to the amount to limited space available, the hub is only accepting new small household items, electrical goods and bedding as well as toiletries and non-perishable food items. Due to limited space, no furniture can be accepted.

At-home Caravan Program to be expanded

Flood-affected Tweed residents will now be able to register for the at-home caravan program at the Pottsville Beach

Neighbourhood Centre.

The program, extended to include Burringbar, Chinderah, Condong, Mooball, South Murwillumbah and Tumbulgum is part of the fee-free, Tweed-based Recovery Support Service supported by Resilience NSW.

Designed to ease medium-term housing challenges, the program will see caravans sourced from Camplify and located on the resident's private property at no cost.

Once registered, applicants will have a face-to-face meeting with a Resilience NSW representative to ensure the property can safely accommodate a caravan.

Camplify CEO Justin Hales said the caravans provide people in need with a reliable home and called on more caravan owners to consider registering their vans to the cause.

Residents can register for the At-home Caravan Program at the Pottsville Beach Neighbourhood Centre by emailing rss@pbnc.org.au or phoning 02 6676 4555 or 0476 677 422.

Further support is available through Social Future by emailing recoveryconnect@socialfutures.org.au or phoning 1800 719 625.

Primary producers or rural land holders should contact the Department of Primary Industries Rural Recovery Support Service on 0448 077 684 or email flood.recover@dpi.nsw.gov.au

Legal Aid Disaster Recovery Service

The Disaster Response Legal Service (DRLS) is a free legal service that is available to anyone who has been affected by disasters.

This service, which is currently available from the Flood Recovery Centre in Murwillumbah, will continue for community members even after the local recovery centre closes toward the end of September.

The DRLS provides a range of assistance for disaster-affected Tweed individuals with legal issues and problems related to disasters.

Anyone can access free help by contacting the Disaster Response Legal Service NSW helpline on 1800 801 529 (9 am to 5 pm weekdays).

Further information and links are available on the Disaster Response Legal Service website at disasterhelp.legalaid.nsw.gov.au

National Threatened Species Day event success

A recent event to celebrate National Threatened Species Day saw more than 50 Tweed residents come together at the Tweed Regional Museum to learn about how Council is helping to manage threatened species in the Shire.

Three speakers provided engaging and informative presentations and food for thought about the origins of our local flora and fauna and current research and on-ground efforts to conserve threatened species. Despite concerns expressed for the environment, the night ended on a positive note with suggestions for how people could get involved in conservation.

Visit tweed.nsw.gov.au/native-plants-wildlife for more information about how the Tweed looks after its internationally significant environment.
