

Remembering the animals who have supported Australia's service men and women in times of conflict at Pottsville Beach Cenotaph, Anzac Day 2023.

ANZAC Day events across the Tweed

The Tweed community will come together in their thousands this Anzac Day to pay their respects and remember those who have served and continue to serve the nation during times of conflict.

Council staff have been tending to war memorial sites across the Shire in recent weeks, ensuring the locations are prepared ahead of activity this Anzac Day.

The Tweed's cenotaphs, monuments and hardstand memorial areas have been pressure-cleaned and a fresh coat of paint applied to some sites ahead of services this Thursday 25 April. Surrounding lawn areas will also be freshly mowed and gardens tended to in the lead up to the day.

In brief ...

Temporary road closures: Kingscliff

Council is stabilising the asphalt along Marine Parade (between Beach and Turnock streets) and Turnock Street (from Marine Parade to Pearl Street).

Works will start on Monday 29 April and be undertaken on weekdays from 7 am to 5 pm. The works will take about 3 weeks to complete, weather permitting. Crews may also need to work some Saturdays, between 7 am and 1 pm.

Sections of Marine Parade and Turnock Street will be temporarily closed during work hours from Wednesday 1 May to Friday 3 May to allow for pavement stabilisation and sealing. Detours will be in place.

On other days, there will be temporary lane closures during work hours, which may cause delays of up to 10 minutes.

On-street parking will be restricted during work hours while these works are underway.

There will be limited access to some properties and driveways within the work zone during work hours. Please ask our traffic controllers for help if you need access. Visit tweed.nsw.gov.au/roadworks for more information.

Residents can now stay up to date on the status of the temporary track at Tyalgum Road – particularly during significant rain events – by signing up to Council's new SMS alert service.

A temporary track was opened in October last year to restore connectivity to Tyalgum Road while work continues on the permanent fix at the extreme landslip site, caused by the 2022 flood.

The track – nicknamed 'The Crack' by locals – operates under traffic light control, with automatic gates at either end able to control access if required.

The track remains open 24/7 but could close in the event of significant ground movement and/or heavy rainfall, to ensure public safety and project integrity.

The slip site is being closely monitored and there are triggers in place which prompt changes in the status of the road. To understand this process, visit the new Tyalgum Road temporary closure trigger page at tweed.nsw.gov.au/tyalgum-extreme-slip

To help alleviate concerns for local residents, Council is now offering a SMS service to alert residents to any imminent changes to the road's status – in addition to updates already provided through Council's social media platforms, website and digital VMS boards on the road.

The service is free to residents who subscribe at the above link.

When one of the 3 levels listed below is triggered, subscribers will receive a text message alert to the mobile number provided:

- Red: Road closed – SMS when road closes
 - Amber: On watch – SMS when on/off watch
 - Green: Road open – SMS when road reopens
- Subscribers will be able to opt out of the service at any time via the link included in every SMS message.

Tweed farmer Tobias O'Grady is keen to share his experiences with regenerative approaches to growing food.

See regenerative food production in action

Farmers interested in regenerative approaches to growing food can learn from local experts at a walk and talk in Duranbah next week.

Young Tweed farmer Tobias O'Grady and Council's Sustainable Agriculture Program team will guide interested participants through Tobias' fruit and vegetable production system.

Tobias will be on hand to chat about his regenerative approaches to food production including organics, biodynamics, agroforestry, permaculture and syntropic farming practices. He'll also talk about farm leasing and the challenges faced by young and new farmers.

The event will take place on Thursday 2 May from 1 to 3 pm.
