Award-winner to headline 'B2B Week' event

Creative businesses in the Tweed have the chance to hear from one of the industry's most dynamic and respected figures next month as part of the NSW Government's 'Back to Business Week' event series.

Monica Davidson from the award-winning Creative plus Business will share her 'Top Ten Tips for Creative Business Success' at a workshop in Murwillumbah on Saturday 4 March.

The workshop will focus on the essential things needed to run a freelance and/or creative business. The advice is relevant to many professions including: filmmaker, writer, designer, visual artist, musician, composer, dancer or performer.

Council General Manager Troy Green said the workshop is an opportunity for anyone starting out, or already running a creative, to get some help to grow their business.

"Monica Davidson is one of the most respected speakers in her field," he said.

"It's a great coup to have her come to work with Tweed businesses and I hope our local creatives take advantage of the opportunity.

Award-winning speaker and author, Monica Davidson, will host a workshop in Murwillumbah for creative businesses next month.

"There is a strong community of talented creative people in the Tweed that we want to support through Council's Economic Development Strategy and the 'Creative Cauldron' initiative."

An acclaimed author, Monica Davidson began her creative life as a freelance journalist and filmmaker before starting a film production company in the early 1990s.

In 2013 she was appointed as the first NSW Creative Industries Business Advisor and more recently was named as one of the Westpac 100 Women of Influence for her work in the creative industries and her company Creative Plus Business.

All participants at this workshop will receive a link to a tailored website with links and notes, a PDF handout of resources and exercises, and a chance to network with other creatives.

The workshop costs $25 and runs from 10am-1pm on Saturday 4 March at The Citadel in Queen Street, Murwillumbah. To register, please visit <https://backtobusinessweek.eventbrite.com.au>

Back to Business Week is a NSW Government initiative that celebrates small to medium businesses and promotes and supports the critical role they play in local communities.

Altered ramp access to temporary Tweed library

Access to the temporary Tweed Heads Library sites has changed for the next few weeks, as construction work continues on the upgrade of the nearby library building in February and early March.

Wheelchair access during this period will only be available through the Tweed Shire Council Administration Office foyer, because safety fencing currently blocks access to the external ramp.

"Contractors working on the Tweed Library expansion are cutting concrete in front of the library site, so fencing has been erected to protect the safety of library visitors," Richmond Tweed Regional Library (RTRL) Area Librarian Selina Ryan said.

"Signs will direct library users around the fencing to steps in front of the temporary library site. However, to ensure the safety of wheelchairs users and other people with impeded mobility, they will need to enter through the Council administration building front doors."

Ms Ryan said the concrete cutting and other works during the current stage of the library upgrade could also cause significant noise and vibrations which would also cause some interruptions.

"We apologise for any inconvenience cause by the noise and impeded access but this stage of work is scheduled to be completed in early March, when more direct access to the temporary library site will be restored," she said.

The Tweed library relocated to its temporary site at the Tweed Heads Civic and Cultural Centre, next to the auditorium, in January so users could continue to pick up reserved items, return resources and browse part of the Tweed Heads Library collection during the upgrade project. The temporary library is open Monday to Friday 9.30am-5pm and Saturday 9am-12pm.

A temporary computer café and reading room is also operating in Council's Administration Office in Brett Street and is open Monday to Friday, 9am-4.45pm. Free wi-fi services are also available in and around the temporary library site.

Children's activities began this week at Council's Community Centre (next to Tweed Heads South Aquatic Centre) at Tweed South. Storytime will be held on Mondays at 10am and Baby Bounce on Fridays at 10am. There are a few weeks they will not be held because the centre is being used for other events, so check the RTRL website at www.rtrl.nsw.gov.au to confirm dates.

Children's library materials will be provided from the Community Centre during scheduled Storytime and Baby Bounce sessions. All categories of the Children and Youth Collection are available from the Richmond Tweed Mobile Library, which will stop in Wharf Street next to the library site every second Monday from 10am to 3.30pm. The next visit will be 20 February.

For further information about the library upgrade and library services, visit www.tweed.nsw.gov.au/Library or the Richmond Tweed Regional Library website, www.rtrl.nsw.gov.au

Riding to survive

Motorcyclists are encouraged to head to Chillingham on Sunday (19 February 2017) for their weekend ride and get some tips from the best on how to stay safe.

The Council-sponsored Survive the Ride workshop will teach riders how to improve their roadcraft skills and riding techniques and how to make better decisions to stay safe.

It will be run by former riding instructors and motorcycle highway patrol officers at the Chillingham Hall from 12 noon to 2pm. A free lunch will be provided so please book by phoning Council on (02) 6670 2400.

Tumbulgum Road closed to vehicles

Council has closed Tumbulgum Road, between Sunnyside Lane and Old Ferry Road, for six months to allow the cliff face to be stabilised, the road and footpath widened and stormwater drainage to be upgraded.

Motorists will need to use Old Ferry Road to travel to and from Murwillumbah CBD. Alternatively, if travelling to and from Tweed Heads, they will need to stay on Tweed Valley Way and enter Murwillumbah via Wollumbin Street.

Pedestrians and cyclists will be able to pass through the closed road section, taking extra care.

The $1.7 million upgrade will improve both pedestrian and motorist safety on this section of road and avert any risk of the road failing due to the erosive effects of the river.

Exhibition turns spotlight on Uki

The Tweed is made up of many historic, beautiful and vibrant villages, each with its own unique characteristics and stories to tell.

Uki is one of the largest rural villages in the Tweed Valley and some of its fascinating stories are featured in a new exhibition at Tweed Regional Museum Murwillumbah.

"Village Stories: Uki features three fantastic groups of material from the Museum collection: a series of posters advertising the community balls; a collection of T-shirts associated with the Buttery Markets, the Uki tug-o-war team and the Uki Touch Football Club; along with items rescued from the Mount Warning Hotel fire in 2013," Museum Director Judy Kean said.

Known by some locals as the 'Harvest Balls', the May Balls were flamboyant and highly-anticipated events for the Far North Coast alternative community. Always fancy dress, they were held in the Uki Hall on the last Saturday in May during the 1980s and early 1990s and profits went to a charity or local community group.

The bottle and plates retrieved from the ashes of the Mount Warning Hotel fire are among the very few surviving objects and are still covered with soot and debris. The hotel was an iconic meeting place for locals and its destruction devastated local residents.

"History doesn't stop. Many of the shire's villages were prominent in early settlement of the valley and its prosperity, and they remain central to what makes the Tweed unique. It's important we continue to document what makes them tick," Ms Kean said.

Visitors to the Village Stories display have the opportunity to record their own memories and anecdotes about Uki – and about other Tweed villages.

The Village Stories: Uki exhibition opened at the Tweed Regional Museum Murwillumbah last week and continues throughout the year.

Members of the Uki and South Arm Historical Society will lead a walking tour of Uki village on Saturday 27 May. For more details and bookings, contact the Museum on (02) 6670 2493 or at trm@tweed.nsw.gov.au

Seniors Festival 2017

NSW Seniors Festival, previously known as Seniors Week, will be held 3–12 March 2017. In conjunction with the Tweed Seniors Committee, Tweed Shire Council produces the annual shire-wide Seniors Festival Program. Local community groups and businesses participate in Seniors Festival by holding special events and activities that are open to all seniors during the Festival. Seniors Festival events focus on and celebrate the valuable contribution seniors have made, and continue to make, to the life of our community. The 2017 program lists 83 events across the shire.

The Seniors Festival Program is available online (www.tweedseiors.com) and from many venues including Council offices, libraries, community centres and licensed clubs.

Highlights in Seniors Week 2017 include technology help in venues right across the shire, help with accessing family history information, bus trips, concerts, fitness activities and information, and 'come and try' activities. The Tweed Seniors Festival Opening Ceremony, Seniors Achievement Awards and Concert is being held at the Banora Point Community Centre on Sunday 5 March.

Recreation for Seniors

Updated Tweed 'Recreation for Seniors' brochures are now available. The four brochures, dated January 2017, cover social and friendship groups, exercise sports and well-being, arts education and hobbies and computing and technology. They are available from Council offices, Tweed libraries, the Banora Point Seniors Information Hub, community centres and tourist information centres. They can also be found online at www.tweed.nsw.gov.au/olderpeople
