

The need to act now

With growing talk of global warming and the rising cost of living, we're becoming more aware of the environmental and economic price we pay for our daily lives.

While the global challenges may seem outside our control, you can have a positive impact at the local level. Simple changes, like installing energy efficient fittings and appliances, can make a big difference to the planet—and to your wallet.

Fieldforce Environmental is proud to bring you the Enviro Saver Program—making it easy for homeowners and businesses to change our world for the better.

If we all can make a small reduction to the energy we consume, then the sum of our actions will make a difference to the world we live in.

Who we are

The Enviro Saver Program is delivered to residences by Fieldforce Services Pty Ltd, an Australian owned and run company. In 1999, Fieldforce moved into the environmental and conservation market, acting on a genuine concern about the environmental impact of our Australian lifestyle. Fieldforce Environmental provides energy and water audits to business and residents, and delivers real life solutions such as low consumption and efficient products and appliances.

Alarming statistics

The average household uses enough energy to produce about eight tonnes of the greenhouse gas carbon dioxide (CO₂) every year.

An old fridge can use up to three times as much energy as a newer, more energy efficient model.

Australians each use an average of 350 litres of domestic water every day, placing us among the highest water users in the world.

A leaking tap wastes between 20 and 200 litres of water every day.

Small, everyday items like more efficient taps, showerheads and light globes are easy to install and make a big difference. A water efficient showerhead can save you up to $100 a year, and reduce greenhouse gas emissions by up to 750 kg.

The Enviro Saver Program helps you save money, and the environment, by making it easy to change the things you do every day.

And it's free!

-  Free energy and water audit
-  Free supply and installation of showerheads
-  Free supply and installation of energy efficient light globes
-  Free advice on rainwater tanks, toilets, solar, insulation and energy efficient appliances.

Simply book an appointment and our friendly, trained staff will visit your home or business at a time that suits you. They can recommend and fit a range of free fixtures on the spot, so you can start saving on your energy and water bills straight away.

When you're ready to make a more significant purchase—like a washing machine, hot water system or fridge—the Enviro Saver team can help you choose the product that will deliver the best value for your needs. Our expert knowledge cuts through the bewildering array of products available, so we can show you which one will suit your needs and save you the most.

How does Enviro Saver work?

The Enviro Saver Program is a free service offered to businesses and residents.

Enviro Saver team members are specially trained to conduct energy and water audits and to fit a range of efficient products.

How can it be free?

Fieldforce Services Pty Ltd is accredited under the NSW Government's Greenhouse Gas Benchmark Rule to create carbon credits by installing environmentally friendly products in your home. Visit www.greenhousegasnsw.gov.au for more information about the scheme.

How can I be involved?

To arrange for an Enviro Saver audit in your home or business, just call 1300 780 858.

What next?

Your Enviro Saver auditor will take the time to provide you with all the information you need in one visit. Water saving showerheads and energy saving light bulbs are easy to install on the spot. You can also take advantage of Enviro Saver's unique partnerships with the leading names in white goods, dual flush toilets, rain tanks and solar energy, to find out which products will suit you best. Even if you're not planning to replace an old appliance right away, you can call Enviro Saver at any time for expert advice on the most cost- and energy-efficient choice for you.
